A Film by Ken Burns, Sarah Burns & David McMahon

WETA Co-Production with Florentine Films airs
Monday–Tuesday, April 11–12 at 9 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD

WETA Focus

This month, we are very proud to premiere a new Ken Burns film produced in partnership with WETA. The two-part program Jackie Robinson tells the story of the American icon who waged a life-long battle for first-class citizenship for all African Americans, using his personal fame as an accomplished, pioneering athlete to press tirelessly for civil rights.

This powerful film joins a remarkable WETA portfolio of superb productions created with America's preeminent documentarian. For more than 30 years, we have teamed with Ken and his production company Florentine Films — which includes Jackie Robinson co-directors Sarah Burns and her husband David McMahon — to bring to the American public some of the finest history documentaries ever created. Tens of millions of television viewers have tuned in for the 29 acclaimed films Ken and WETA have produced together so far, including The Civil War, Baseball, Jazz, Unforgivable Blackness: The Rise and Fall of Jack Johnson, The Central Park Five and The Roosevelts. Through explorations of many different chapters of our nation's history, Ken's films have examined our collective sense of American identity; and inextricable from his work are considerations of race in our society. Jackie Robinson is deeply engaging and very timely, spotlighting courageous efforts to create profound change.

Enjoy this fascinating film, and watch for more projects from WETA and Ken Burns; we have much more in the works! Thank you for your support.

Online Video Series Re:Dream WETA posting new mini-documentaries now at weta.org/redream

WETA is participating in a digital project, Re:Dream, that is exploring how people define "success" in the 21st-century economy and how they hope to reach it. The station is among five PBS television groups (including project leader Kansas City Public Television, plus Georgia, Detroit and Southern California) that are producing mini-documentaries of four to seven minutes, telling stories of individuals as they prepare for success, meet obstacles and pursue their American dream. By sharing the hopes and struggles of everyday U.S. residents, Re:Dream spotlights how people view their access to opportunities, and how they perceive that issues of identity — including race, gender, geography and sexuality — can affect their ability to succeed.

Forty mini-documentaries are being produced, eight of which are being created by WETA. The videos — which began rolling out last month and will be posted throughout April — can be viewed at weta.org/redream. Among WETA films, upcoming pieces profile Brennan Mullaney, who is striving to make reintegration easier for other veterans like himself; Tabias Wilson, whose experience of discrimination has increased his drive to empower others; Billy Johnson, who, imprisoned for more than 25 years, now hopes to have his own food truck; and other individuals. WETA is working with local community organizations to host screening and discussion events surrounding Re:Dream. Information about April/May local events will be posted to weta.org/redream. Follow the conversation at #MyReDream.

Re:Dream is funded by ThinkShift, an initiative of the DeBruce Foundation.

Call the Midwife, Series 5

Sundays at 8 p.m. beginning April 3 on WETA TV 26/HD; followed by Masterpiece series Grantchester and *Mr. Selfridge

The acclaimed British midwifery drama Call the Midwife returns for a fifth season with eight new episodes that air Sunday nights starting April 3. Season 5 — starring Emerald Fennell (as Patsy), Helen George (Trixie) and Charlotte Ritchie (Barbara) — opens in the year 1961, with the Poplar neighborhood of East London beginning to feel the winds of change with improvements in housing, sanitation and healthcare. The midwives and nuns of Nonnatus House continue to care for the sick and bring new life into the world; and the personal and professional lives of the nurses remain entwined as events in their work affect their personal choices. The midwives encounter complex medical cases, ranging from an outbreak of typhoid to an increase in lung cancer, a teenage pregnancy and a mother who vanishes. But all are rocked when two babies with deformities are born; and they must contend with the medical and emotional fallout.

Following Call the Midwife each Sunday night, Masterpiece Mystery!: Grantchester, Season 2 continues at 9 p.m., featuring matchmaking as well as murder in this round of episodes. The series stars James Norton as vicar Reverend Sidney Chambers and Robson Green as Police Inspector Geordie Keating, a sleuthing duo investigating crimes in a quiet English community. At 10 p.m., Mr. Selfridge, Season 4 on Masterpiece continues with Jeremy Piven portraying the flamboyant American raconteur-entrepreneur who founded the famous Selfridge's London department store.

Detective Dramas on WETA TV 26/HD

Murder in Suburbia

Saturdays at 8 p.m. beginning April 2

Midsomer Murders, Series 10

Thursdays, April 7, 14 & 21 at 8 & 9:30 p.m.

A six-part 2004 British detective series stars Caroline Catz (Doc Martin) as Detective Inspector Kate Ashurst and Lisa Faulkner (MI-5) as Detective Sergeant Emma Scribbins, an unorthodox investigative team in the Criminal Investigative Department of Middleford, a fictional suburban English town. Better known as Ash and Scribbins, the two are an unlikely pair: Ash, a graduate of a posh girls' academy, has an analytical mind, while working-class Scribbins relies more on her instincts than what the facts seem to tell her. When these two wisecracking cops come together, along with their bemused boss (Jeremy Sheffield), they are an unstoppable duo, probing a variety of murder cases in the seemingly perfect suburbs. Murder in Suburbia repeats each Sunday night at 7 p.m. leading off the evening's drama programming, which is bookended at 11 p.m. by Luther (Series 2 & 3), starring Idris Elba as a troubled genius detective.

Also this month, WETA reprises Series 10 of the popular crime drama Midsomer Murders, starring John Nettles as criminal investigator Detective Chief Inspector Tom Barnaby and Jason Hughes as Barnaby's junior partner, DC Ben Jones. Set in the fictional English county of Midsomer, the suspenseful cases, airing as double features each week at 8 p.m., are based on the novels of Caroline Graham.

JACKIE ROBINSON

A Film by Ken Burns, Sarah Burns & David McMahon

The WETA co-production with Florentine Films in association with Major League Baseball airs Monday–Tuesday, April 11–12 at 9 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD, repeating at 11 p.m.

Anew two-part, four-hour documentary, directed by Ken Burns, Sarah Burns and David McMahon, and co-produced by WETA and Florentine Films in association with Major League Baseball, chronicles the life and times of Jackie Roosevelt Robinson, who rose from humble origins to break baseball's color barrier and waged a fierce lifelong battle for first-class citizenship for all African Americans that transcends even his remarkable athletic achievements.

“Jackie Robinson is the most important figure in our nation’s most important game,” said Ken Burns. “He gave us our first lasting progress in civil rights since the Civil War and, ever since I finished my Baseball series in 1994, I’ve been eager to make a stand-alone film about the life of this courageous American.”

The film, airing on consecutive nights in April, is written by David McMahon and Sarah Burns, and presents extensive interviews with Robinson’s widow, Rachel, and their surviving children, Sharon and David. Additional interviewees include President Barack Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama; former Dodgers teammates Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine and Ralph Branca; writers Howard Bryant and Gerald Early; and Harry Belafonte, Tom Brokaw and Carly Simon, who reflect on Robinson’s legacy. Keith David narrates the film.

Breaking Barriers

Born in 1919 to tenant farmers in rural Georgia and raised in Pasadena, California, Robinson challenged institutional racism as a teenager and during his military service. In the spring of 1947, Brooklyn Dodgers General Manager Branch Rickey signed the extraordinary athlete and talented ballplayer to a groundbreaking major league contract, with the agreement that Robinson would ignore the threats and abuse that he would face. That season,

Jackie Robinson premieres in two parts, Mon-Tues, April 11-12 at 9 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD (repeating at 11 p.m.)

The film also repeats Wednesday, April 13, 2-6 p.m.; Sunday, April 17, 2-6 p.m.; and Friday, April 29, 2-6 p.m.

Funding for Jackie Robinson is provided by Bank of America; PBS; the Corporation for Public Broadcasting; The Arthur Vining Davis Foundations; Mr. Jack C. Taylor; and members of The Better Angels Society, including Dalio Foundation, Jessica & John Fullerton and John & Catherine Debs.

“Jackie Robinson was a sit-inner before sit-ins, a freedom rider before freedom rides.”

Robinson remained silent while he dazzled fans with his brilliant play and helped lead the Dodgers to the pennant, becoming one of America's top celebrities.

“Robinson is often celebrated for stoically ‘turning the other cheek’ to the threats and insults he faced during his first season in the majors, and what’s lost is that this display of self-restraint went completely against his character,” said co-director David McMahon. “He was feisty, assertive and naturally inclined to speak out against the slights and indignities he faced on and off the field, and we wanted to create a more nuanced picture of a man who is often reduced to a two-dimensional myth.”

Activist & Family Man

The documentary explores how in 1949, Robinson, a fierce integrationist, began to speak out, using his immense fame to decry the discrimination he saw on and off the field, angering fans, the press, and even teammates who had once celebrated him for “turning the other cheek.” After his retirement from baseball in 1956, Robinson was a widely read newspaper columnist, a political activist and tireless advocate for civil rights, who later struggled to remain relevant as diabetes crippled him and a new generation of leaders set a more militant course for the Civil Rights Movement.

DAVID S. JOHNSON, LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Amid the story of Robinson's remarkable personal courage and activism, the film also explores his family's experience. “We were incredibly lucky to have Rachel Robinson sit for three extraordinary on-camera interviews and open her personal archive of photographs,” said co-director Sarah Burns. “Her grace and eloquence elevate the family drama of their lives to a central focus in our film, and her recollections open up a window into Jackie’s private life that is rarely seen.”

Learn More

As with previous Ken Burns films produced in partnership with WETA, Jackie Robinson is accompanied by a WETA-created website: visit pbs.org/jackierobinson to find biographical information and images, historical timelines on Robinson and civil rights in America, and more. Join the conversation on social media at #JackieRobinsonPBS. Also accompanying the film is a nationwide public engagement campaign led by WETA that relates Robinson’s story and helps Americans to better understand a pivotal period in 20th-century American history. As part of the project, WETA has produced comprehensive educational materials to help teachers spotlight Robinson’s legacy and his impact on the Civil Rights Movement.

More from Ken Burns and WETA

Jazz airs Fridays at 8:30 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD

The National Parks: America's Best Idea airs Monday–Saturday, April 25–30 at 9 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD

As the new Ken Burns film Jackie Robinson premieres this month, TV 26 reprises two acclaimed major series created by Burns in partnership with WETA. On Fridays throughout the month and into May, Burns's monumental, 10-part 2001 series Jazz unfolds, chronicling in historical and social context the evolution and influences of this original American art form and its impact on the nation. Spotlighing the artists who made the music world-renowned, the series relates the stories of jazz titans such as Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Benny Goodman, Bix Beiderbecke, Fletcher Henderson, Charlie Parker, Sarah Vaughan, Count Basie, Dizzy Gillespie, Billie Holiday, John Coltrane and Miles Davis.

During the last week of April, WETA marks the upcoming National Parks Service centennial with a presentation of the 2009 Ken Burns collaboration The National Parks: America's Best Idea, a six-part exploration of the history of one of America's important legacies to future generations. Filmed at some of the nation's most spectacular locales — from Acadia to Yosemite, Yellowstone to the Grand Canyon, the Everglades of Florida to the Gates of the Arctic in Alaska — the documentary is a visual feast. The National Parks traces the birth of the park idea in the mid-1800s and follows its evolution for 150 years, highlighting iconic places amid the American landscape, while relating the stories of people from every conceivable background who devoted themselves to saving and preserving lands they loved.

10 That Changed America airs Tuesdays, April 5, 12 & 19 at 8 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD

Anew three-part series explores America's most influential homes, parks and towns, spotlighting the special places that revolutionized the ways Americans live, work and play. In the programs, host Geoffrey Baer undertakes a lively exploration of American architecture, design and urban planning that illustrates how our built environment came to be. Homes (April 5) highlights 10 structures that transformed residential living, from grand dwellings such as Thomas Jefferson's Monticello and Frank Lloyd Wright's Fallingwater (below), to the pueblos of Taos, New Mexico, and the tenements of 19th-century New York. Parks (April 12) tells the story of innovators who took 10 open areas of land and transformed them into serene spaces in an urban setting. From the elegant squares of Savannah, Georgia, to a park built over a freeway in Seattle, to the more recent High Line in New York, each story introduces the people who brought the parks to life. Towns (April 19) focuses on 10 experimental towns that were designed by visionary planners and ordinary citizens who sought to change the lives of residents using architecture, design and urban planning. From St. Augustine to Levittown, from Salt Lake City to Portland's new Pearl District, this episode inspires reconsiderations of where we live and how our towns and cities affect every aspect of our lives. On Tuesday, April 26, WETA reprises the 2013 program 10 Buildings That Changed America, also featuring Baer.

10 That Changed America is made possible, in part, by The Joseph & Bessie Feinberg Foundation. Major funding is also provided by Joan and Robert Clifford, The Walter E. Heller Foundation, and others.

Monday–Saturday, April 25–30 at 9 p.m. on WETA TV 26/HD
The National Parks: America's Best Idea, a WETA co-production directed by Ken Burns, explores the history and splendor of America's national parks and the public's passion for them. Above: Yellowstone, the country's first national park.

explore the history and splendor of, and the public passion for, America's national parks. The series explores the stories of people who were willing to devote themselves to saving a precious portion of the land they loved. Part 1 of 6. The Scripture of Nature (1851–1890). In 1851, word spreads across the country of a beautiful area of California's Yosemite Valley, attracting visitors who wish to exploit the land's scenery for commercial gain and those who wish to keep it pristine. Among the latter is a Scottish-born wanderer named John Muir, for whom protecting the land becomes a spiritual calling. In 1864, Congress passes an act that protects Yosemite from commercial development for "public use, resort and recreation" — the first time in world history that any government has put forth this idea — and hands control of the land to California. Meanwhile, a "wonderland" in the northwest corner of the Wyoming territory becomes America's first national park: Yellowstone. {DVI}

8:00 10 BUILDINGS THAT CHANGED AMERICA — A documentary surveys 10 works of American architecture that changed the way we live, including Virginia's state capitol, which Thomas Jefferson designed to resemble a Roman temple; Dulles Airport, with its swooping concrete roof that seems to float on air; and other buildings around the nation. Geoffrey Baer hosts.

9:00 THE NATIONAL PARKS: AMERICA'S BEST IDEA — Ken Burns' and Dayton Duncan's film, a co-production of Florentine Films and WETA, continues. Part 2 of 6. The Last Refuge (1890–1915). By the end of the 19th century, widespread industrialization has left many Americans worried about whether the country — once a vast wilderness — will have any pristine land left. At the same time, poachers in the parks are rampant, and visitors think nothing of littering or carving their names near iconic sites like Old Faithful. Congress has yet to establish clear judicial authority or appropriations for the protection of the parks. This sparks a conservation movement by organizations such as the Sierra Club, led by John Muir; the Audubon Society, led by George Bird Grinnell; and the Boone and Crockett Club, led by Theodore Roosevelt. {DVI}

9:00 THE NATIONAL PARKS: AMERICA'S BEST IDEA — Ken Burns' and Dayton Duncan's film, a co-production of Florentine Films and WETA, continues. Part 3 of 6. The Empire of Grandeur (1915–1919). In the early 20th century, America has a dozen national parks, but they are a haphazard patchwork of special places under the supervision of different federal agencies. The conservation movement, after failing to stop the Hatch Hatch dam, pushes the government to establish one unified agency to oversee all the parks, leading to the establishment of the National Park Service in 1916. Its first director, Stephen Mather, a wealthy businessman and passionate park advocate who fought vigorously to establish the NPS, launches an energetic campaign to expand the national park system and bring more visitors to the parks. Among his efforts is to protect the Grand Canyon. {DVI}

8:00 SECRETS OF UNDERGROUND LONDON — Beneath London lies a secret, hidden world, all but forgotten by the millions of people above. This program uncovers 2,000 years of subterranean history: ancient caves and perfectly preserved Roman remains; mysterious rivers and gruesome plague pits; impenetrable vaults and top-secret bunkers.

9:00 THE NATIONAL PARKS: AMERICA'S BEST IDEA — Ken Burns' and Dayton Duncan's film, a co-production of Florentine Films and WETA, continues. Part 4 of 6. Going Home (1920–1933). While visiting the parks was once predominantly the domain of Americans wealthy enough to afford the high-priced train tours, the advent of the automobile allows more people than ever before to visit the parks. Mather embraces this opportunity and works to build more roads in the parks. Some park enthusiasts begin "collecting" parks, making a point to visit as many as they can. In North Carolina, Horace Kephart, a reclusive writer, and George Masa, a Japanese immigrant, launch a campaign to protect the last stands of virgin forest in the Smoky Mountains by establishing it as a park. In Wyoming, John D. Rockefeller Jr. begins quietly buying up land in the Teton Mountain Range and valley in a secret plan to donate it to the government as a park. {DVI}

9:00 THE NATIONAL PARKS: AMERICA'S BEST IDEA — Ken Burns' and Dayton Duncan's film, a co-production of Florentine Films and WETA, continues. Part 5 of 6. Great Nature (1933-1945). To battle unemployment in the Great Depression, Franklin D. Roosevelt creates the Civilian Conservation Corps, which spawns a "golden age" for the parks through major renovation projects. In a groundbreaking study, a young NPS biologist named George Melendez Wright discovers widespread abuses of animal habitats and pushes the service to reform its wildlife policies. Congress narrowly passes a bill to protect the Everglades in Florida as a national park — the first time a park has been created solely to preserve an ecosystem. As America becomes entrenched in World War II, Roosevelt is pressured to open the parks to mining, grazing and lumbering. {DVI}

As gatekeeper, school secretary Helen McKey could subtly influence admissions, but then a hit-and-run driver sends her on permanent sabbatical. Ash and Scribbs sort out which highly motivated parent also had a motive for murder.

9:00 THE NATIONAL PARKS: AMERICA'S BEST IDEA — Ken Burns' and Dayton Duncan's film, a co-production of Florentine Films and WETA, concludes. Part 6 of 6. The Morning of Creation (1946-1980). After World War II, the parks are overwhelmed as visitation reaches 62 million people a year. A new billion-dollar campaign — Mission 66 — is created to build facilities and infrastructure that can accommodate the flood of visitors. A biologist named Alfred Murie introduces the revolutionary notion that predatory animals, which are still hunted, deserve the same protection as other wildlife. In Florida, the grandson of a slave helps protect a string of unspoiled islands in Biscayne Bay. In the late 1970s, President Jimmy Carter creates an uproar in Alaska when he sets aside 56 million acres of land for preservation — the largest expansion of protected land in history. In 1995, wolves are re-established in Yellowstone, making the world's first national park a little more like what it once was. {DVI}

WETA UK Highlights

Father Brown, Series IV

Thursdays at 8 p.m. beginning April 7 on WETA UK

BBC 2016

Mark Williams (Harry Potter, Doctor Who) returns to solve more mysteries in the sleepy Cotswold village of Kembleford in a new 10-episode season of Father Brown. The charming BBC series, based on G. K. Chesterton's short stories, spotlights the priest-turned-sleuth as he investigates crimes in 1950s England in a countryside dotted with small villages, rural parish churches and large country houses. Each episode sees Father Brown sleuthing in his own particular way, using intuition and psychology. Once again, the enigmatic priest is aided by his no-nonsense parish secretary Mrs. McCarthy (Sorcha Cusack), glamorous socialite Lady Felicia Montague (Nancy Carroll) and her chauffeur Sid Carter (Alex Price). This season, a man missing for years returns just as his wife is about to remarry, but when he's found dead, suspicion falls on those closest to him; the village gets a dose of Hollywood glamour when a film crew arrives; and Sid's romance with a brewer's daughter gets complicated when he finds out she is married and that he is also her alibi for the night of a murder in her family.

Coal House

Sundays, April 3, 10 & 17 at 8 p.m. on WETA UK

What was life like for a Welsh coal miner in the 1920s? The three-part 2008 reality series Coal House explores this question as three families leave the 21st century behind and swap their modern-day comforts for life in a period coal-mining community. Coal was the chief energy source for Britain in that era and, as the families find out, those who worked in the industry faced formidable challenges.

For three weeks participant families occupy tiny four-room cottages without kitchens, bathrooms, or running water as they simultaneously learn to live on the meager wages of a coal miner. The men experience the dangers and hardships of work at the mine, the women grapple with endless household chores, and the children face harsh discipline at school and hard work at home. However, it's not all gloom — the families find ways of having fun despite the difficult conditions. The series offers a look at the living conditions of mining families a century ago, giving perspective to the advantages modern technology has added to everyday life.

The Driver

Tuesdays beginning April 19 (10 p.m.) on WETA UK

An action-packed, character-driven British miniseries stars David Morrissey (State of Play, The Walking Dead) as Vince McKee, a man pushed to the breaking point from endless days of driving rude passengers in a dingy cab for meager pay. His fortunes change when high-living crime boss the Horse (Colm Meaney, Star Trek: The Next Generation) taps him for high-paying driving jobs for his gang — helping McKee escape his turbulent home life. But the new jobs come with perils, and the thick wads of cash Vince earns may only hasten the demise of his marriage to Rosalind (Claudia Blakely, Pride & Prejudice) and worsen his relationship with his daughter (Sacha Parkinson, Mr. Selfridge). Too late, Vince realizes that his next drive may be his last. The three-part 2014 thriller is set in Manchester.

A Spring Bouquet for April's NSO Showcase

Wednesday, April 6 at 9 p.m.

By Nicole Lacroix, Evening On-Air Host

Now that's a prodigy! Pianist Jonathan Biss writes in his biography that although "he was born in 1980, his professional debut preceded this event by several months, when he performed, prenatally, the Mozart A Major Violin Concerto at Carnegie Hall, with the Cleveland Orchestra under the direction of Lorin Maazel." (Mr. Biss's mother, who was pregnant at the time of the above concert, is the renowned violinist Miriam Fried). On the April broadcast of NSO Showcase, Jonathan Biss will take his proper seat on a piano bench to perform Mozart's brilliant Concerto No. 13 under the direction of Slovakian conductor Juraj Valcuha. It's one of the highlights of a program that will include two Dvořák favorites as well as a "flowery" piece by Mahler, and a deeply moving World War I memorial by Ravel. All music was recorded live at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

German physicist August Beer described Mahler's Blumine ("flowers") as "a heartfelt, rapturous trumpet melody that alternates with melancholy song on the oboe; it is not hard to recognize the lovers exchanging their tender feelings in the stillness of night." This lovely little adagio, originally written as incidental music for the theater, was inserted and then promptly excised from Mahler's first symphony. It survives on its own as a delightful concert piece.

Another favorite of oboists everywhere, according to NSO Principal Nicholas Stovall, is Ravel's Tombeau de Couperin, a tribute to one of the major figures of the French baroque, François Couperin "the Great," and to Ravel's own fallen comrades from the "Great War." The young British conductor Matthew Halls leads the orchestra in this performance.

Also on the program, Maestro Christoph Eschenbach will conduct two works by Dvořák. The boisterous Carnival Overture, and the über-popular New World Symphony round out this brilliantly colorful NSO Showcase.

Delius Requiem on Choral Showcase

Sunday, April 24 at 9 p.m.

By David Ginder, Morning On-Air Host

Anticipating a local April performance by choral ensemble Seraphic Fire, on the April 17 Choral Showcase program we've scheduled a Classical WETA recording of the ensemble's November concert here, which included works by Purcell, Charpentier and Handel. We also feature two unusual Requiems on Choral Showcase this month, noting that Seraphic Fire's April concert — at St. Paul's on K Street — presents Brahms's much-loved, often-performed German Requiem, which is itself unusual because it does not take its text from the Latin Mass.

The Requiems we air this month include Antonin Dvořák's composition — on April 3 — which does use the expected Latin words but can be considered "unusual" simply because it's rarely performed. But truly out of the ordinary is Frederick Delius's Requiem, which is featured on our April 24 broadcast. Like the Brahms, the Delius text comes from a non-Mass source. Delius used words put together by an acquaintance named Heinrich Simon, who based his text on various sources, most notably Friedrich Nietzsche (including Also sprach Zarathustra). Because Simon's work was not as effective as the Nietzsche original and because the Delius-Simon piece is not religious, the timing of its completion and premiere during and after the First World War caused it to be viewed with contempt. Audiences of the time sought consolation in faith from the tragedies of war, but the piece didn't offer that. After the work's premiere in 1922, it was untouched for more than 40 years. But Richard Hickox's recording (mid-1990s) shows that Delius's music in the Requiem is of the highest order; the composer thought the piece was among his best, and even people who initially dismissed it (including Delius assistant Eric Fenby) later agreed that the work had great merit. I suggest appreciating the piece for its music and for what it is more generally — a work written "to the memory of all young artists fallen in the war," as Delius's dedication reads.

Mondays at 9 p.m.

Every now and then, real music-making takes place backstage as it did when virtuoso pianist Jon Kimura Parker chatted with two colleagues in the Tokyo String Quartet, violinist Martin Beaver and cellist Clive Greensmith. The result? A brand new ensemble featuring veteran musicians with decades of experience. Calling themselves the Montrose Trio (after a favored post-concert wine from Château Montrose,) the group made its D.C.-area debut at the Barns at Wolf Trap in early 2015. Hear their brilliant recital on Front Row Washington Monday, April 4 at 9 p.m. in a performance the Washington Post described as “absolutely top-notch music-making, as fine as one could ever expect to hear.” Trios by Turina and Beethoven are followed by Tchaikovsky’s epic Trio in A minor, Op. 50, the composer’s only chamber work to include a piano.

The chance to hear music in a true salon setting might seem a vestige of bygone days. But today’s concertgoers attending the S&R Foundation’s Overtures series at historic Evermay Estate in Georgetown enjoy pre- and post-concert receptions followed by café table seating for performances by young, emerging artists and world-class stars. Monday, April 11 is the S&R Foundation Overtures series debut on Classical WETA 90.9 FM, featuring violinist Tamaki Kawakubo and pianist Ryo Yanagitani. Their engaging and energetic program includes popular works by Fritz Kreisler as well as Falla’s Suite Populaire Espagnole and Bartók’s Six Romanian Dances.

Sixteen years ago in Israel, four young string players formed the Ariel Quartet. Recently awarded the prestigious Cleveland Quartet Award, the Ariel now performs throughout North America, Europe and Israel. Their Freer Gallery recital airs Monday, April 18 with Haydn’s “Sunrise” quartet and Tchaikovsky’s Quartet No. 1 in D Major — the first major string quartet by a Russian composer.

If the word “impromptu” brings to mind something improvised or spur of the moment, pianist Shai Wosner’s Phillips Collection recital of impromptus by various composers will expand your understanding of this highly evocative yet miniature form. Don’t miss his exquisite program of impromptus by Dvořák, Gershwin, Chopin and Schubert, airing Monday, April 25th on Front Row Washington.
